DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Independent claims 1 and 10 set forth controlling the "level" of a drum. This term is vague in a sense that the , "level of water " should be defined to further clarify the term "level". The drum level should be clarified accordingly to the numerous recitations of the same in all of the pending claims. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1,9,10 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chamberlain 4,242,989 in view of Rowe et al US 2005/0045117. Chamberlain teaches the claimed subject matter except for showing the use of a PID control to effect the drum level control. Chamberlain teach use of a PI control to effect the level control and do not set forth the D or derivative parameter in the control scheme. The patent to Rowe et al are applied for teaching a drum boiler control and device similar to the instant claimed device, and do use PID control to effect the overall control scheme. See page 1, paragraph 007. More accurate control of the process is obtained. In view of this teaching it would have been obvious to modify the chamberlain process to use full PID control in lieu of PI control, to effect the drum water level control, to obtain the benefit of a more anticipatory and accurate water level control. With respect to dependent claims 9 and 18 use of an updating period of .5 seconds is considered a matter of routine and obvious choice for the artisan, dependent on the level of control desired.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. McClanahan is cited for disclosing a drum boiler control system of interest.

Claims 2-8 and 11-17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record does not teach maintaining of a constant differential pressure over the drum valve as per claims 2, 11 and 17, nor teach the gain parameters as set forth in claims 3 and 6.
